

Between Time and Space

Edited by Sulevi Riukulehto

In new regional history, national states are not seen to play a special role. Regions are understood as evolutionary processes in which time and space – history and geography – are connected in research questions. To illustrate the entanglement of time and space in various forms and ages, this volume explores regional history from around the globe. The editor's review of the various works written under the heading of regional history serves as an introduction to this theme.

This volume shows how historical events and changes have influenced the reproduction of regions in Czechia; it will also highlight how regional identities were manifested in a cultural form in romantic operas of post-Napoleonic Europe. The historically rich West Wits Line gold-mining region in the West Rand of South Africa is also examined within a regional-history framework with the broad theme of ecohealth and well-being.

Sulevi Riukulehto (Doctor of Philosophy) works in the Ruralia Institute of the University of Helsinki as Research Director in Regional History, and as Adjunct Professor of Economic History in the University of Jyväskylä. In the Ruralia Institute, he leads the research group “Regions, History and Culture”, which focuses on the origin and development processes of regions and structures.

Are you looking for a publisher for your scholarly work?

Cambridge Scholars Publishing is an academic publishing house committed to providing a forward-thinking service that champions original thinking and puts our authors at the heart of everything we do.

Founded by former lecturers and researchers from the University of Cambridge, we publish research monographs, edited volumes, conference proceedings, and select PhD proceedings, with a particular focus on The Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences. With a strong reputation for author satisfaction, we understand the importance of making the publishing process a rewarding experience, with no cost to the author/editor, complimentary copies, a substantial author discount, free access to our eBook titles, and a generous royalty scheme. Our publications are marketed worldwide and sold through international booksellers and distributors including Amazon, Blackwell, Baker & Taylor, YBP and Ingram, and are widely purchased by academic libraries. In addition, we have distribution partnerships in key geographical territories such as the USA, China, India and the Middle East.

Our international Editorial Advisory Board is chaired by Professor Emeritus David Weir and consists of established scholars and leading-edge thinkers, who play a key role in helping us to steer our commissioning focus. Professor Weir explains: “Cambridge Scholars is a publishing house with a difference: I have experienced first-hand the strong scholarly values coupled with a level of efficiency, which sets it apart from the rest. The team produces topical books that cut through all the complexities of contemporary publishing, with a genuine focus on a superior author experience.”
